This work includes using simplified pipeline visuals and maps, which help to better target the company’s response to third-party interference in her operations. In 2019, Shell paid more than $61.3 billion to governments, as represented by $7.8 billion in income taxes and $5.9 billion in government royalties, together with $47.6 billion collected in excise duties, sales taxes and similar levies on fuel and other products on behalf of governments. We encourage and celebrate effective CSR and positive social impact by responsible corporate citizens; we celebrate international best practices in sustainability reporting across different economic divides. Shell Petroleum (ROYAL DUTCH SHELL PLC) has released its latest sustainability report to stakeholders. With the last re-design the reports became more colorful and friendly. To reduce the number of operational spills, SPDC (Shell Petroleum Development Company) is focused on implementing its ongoing work programme to appraise, maintain and replace key sections of pipelines and flow lines. In 2019, there were 156 sabotage- and theft-related spills of more than 100 kilograms, up from 109 in 2018. On the future impact of the pandemic on the global economy, he continued further, “how this will all unfold in the short term is still uncertain, of course, but as the world battles to overcome what it is struggling with today, Shell will seek to assist in whatever way we can”. Each report has a primary color, so that despite a unified design a quick orientation is possible.Graphics: Complexity easily explained its worldwide branches and interconnections, Shell is a complex company. Nigeria's takings comprise $3,983,413,143 in production entitlements; $1,062,965,746 in taxes; $446,362,409 in royalties and $136,876,347 in fees. On country spread, Nigeria raked in the highest total receipt of $5,629,617,645 accounting for over 9% of the global payment. Since 2017, SPDC has removed more than 523 illegal theft points which are identified by daily overflights and on-the-ground inspections. CONCERNS ON COVID -19 In his preface to the report, Ben van Beurden, Shell’s CEO, noted that the extraordinary turbulence occasioned by the spread of the COVID-19 pandemic has affected so many people around the world, while many have lost their lives. The 2019 Sustainability Report is published in an online version at . Additionally, the user can search all current and old reports in a central search.Production: One system to rule them allAll reports are filled via a central source: The nexxar CMS. This offers the advantage that information can be viewed piece by piece. Our goal is to realize the dream of development scholars that, ‘corporates, more than governments, would bring about the much needed sustainable development across the globe. The report was prepared in line with guidelines developed by IPECA, the global oil and gas industry association for advancing environmental and social performance, together with the Global Reporting Initiative (GRI) Standards: Core option. Today, nexxar and Shell together produce 6 reports in English every year: Global Social Performance Report, Annual Report and Accounts, Investor Highlights, Investors Handbook, Sustainability Report and the Tax Contribution Report. All reports are published using the corporate design as full-responsive HTML reports and as PDFs generated from a single source, our CMS.All in line with the brand and in a consistent designAll reports are based on the lead design of the corporate website. This central source ensures that all publications (websites and PDFs) show congruent data and that no errors occur when transferring data from a PDF to the website (or vice versa). Shell 2019 Sustainability Report also adopted the recommendations of the Task Force on Climate-related Financial Disclosures (TCFD) to guide and inform its reporting. With approximately 83,000 employees in more than 70 countries, they are among the largest in their industry worldwide.From innovator to digital reporting expertIn 2010 we realized the first online annual report for Shell. By the end of 2019, 301 cages had been installed and around 80 more are planned for 2020 that will all come with CCTV technology. In 2019, 130 sites were remediated and 123 certified by Nigerian government regulators, compared with 116 certified and 45 remediated in 2018. At that time Shell was a pioneer in digital reporting. Oil spillage remains the greatest environmental threat associated with exploration and distribution of petroleum products, especially in less-regulated climes like Nigeria. Around $84 million of the total social investment spend in 2019 was in countries that are part of the UNDP’s Human Development Index 2018 (with GDP of less than $15,000 a year per person). We are focused on protecting our staff and customers and supporting communities where we operate”. The company also has significant operations in renewable energy activities. The 2019 sustainability report covers Shell’s social, safety and environmental performance in 2019 and significant events for Shell during the year. Royal Dutch Shell is a global group of energy and petrochemical companies. In order to give users an overview, a reporting summary page was set up on Shell.com. Besides responding to recent spill incidents, SPDC continues to identify and remediate legacy spill locations. Our chemical plants are stepping up production of isopropyl alcohol, a key ingredient of hand-sanitizing liquid. Search engines also use this text to recognize the image content.Search: All information in one placeThe annual publication of 6 reports generates a lot of content. In order to make the organization and individual processes more transparent to the stakeholders, great attention was paid to designing important details with infographics, interactive elements and animations so that they are quick and easy to understand. Individual processes and organizational details were illustrated with interactive graphics. An alternative text for graphics allows visually impaired users to read the graphics with a screen reader. The report, among other things, covered the thematic sustainability topics at Shell which include being a responsible business, ensuring sustainable energy future and making positive contributions to society. Since 2016 we have been producing almost all reports online first. Since then, we have continued to develop the report in close cooperation with Shell and redesigned it several times. Of this sum, the company spent $116 million on voluntary social investment, the remaining $56 million was spent on local programmes for community development, disaster relief, road safety, health and biodiversity. We partner with FBOs, NGOs, CBOs, governments and corporates to spread the message of sustainable development and corporate sustainability. In order to make reading possible for people with color blindness or red-green weakness as well, all graphics were designed to display information only by using shapes rather than colors and to ensure that all colors have sufficient contrast. The CSR Arena is a CSR advocacy and sustainability-reporting-analysis champion. In 2019, SPDC Nigeria completed 30 kilometres of new flow lines, bringing the total to around 1,330 kilometres over the last eight years. This is in addition to other efforts around clean and renewable energy, recycling and conservation of natural resources in different parts of the globe. The online version includes additional information, such as an interactive GRI index to enhance usability for the reader. The business model is explained with an illustration, which is additionally animated online. It offers an overview of all current reports. In 2019, Shell spent almost $173 million on social investment, of which 33% was required by government regulations or contractual agreements. It is one of the oil and gas “supermajors” and among the three largest in the world measured by revenues. In 2019, three breaches of the cages were recorded out of 300 attempts. PERFORMANCE HIGHLIGHTS $173 million spent in social investments in 2019 Paid $44.9 billion to suppliers Paid $61.3 billion to governments Spent $962 million on research and development in 2019, compared to $986 million in 2018 recruited 3,600 staff (51% women) for Shell Business Operations Experienced hires, 31% female; board of directors, 42% women; total workforce, 48% female. Since then, a lot has changed: web technologies have evolved considerably and the report has evolved with them. This ensures a consistent look and feel. In his words, “we are doing everything we can to help in the global response to the virus. TRIPPLE BOTTOM-LINE The Shell 2019 sustainability report highlights in full the company’s performance around the triple bottom-line metrics of sustainability – economic, social and environmental. 83,000 employees by December 31, 2019 373,000 formal training days for employees and joint venture partners installed solar panels at plants in China, India, Italy, Singapore and Switzerland expected to generate more than 7,500 MW an hour of electricity a year Avoided about 4,500 tonnes of CO2-equivalent emissions a year, equivalent to taking about 2,600 cars off the road.
